LEADING THE WAY: NONPROFIT LEADERSHIP CERTIFICATE

Tuesdays, June 17–August 19 | 3–6 p.m.
Aurora University Campus

Aurora University is partnering with the Dunham Foundation to offer a multi-week workshop series to leaders of Aurora-area not-for-profit organizations (NFPs). The comprehensive coursework will address the specific challenges and opportunities unique to the nonprofit sector. The series is designed to equip leaders with the essential management and business skills needed to bridge the gap between the operational and strategic aspects of leadership — empowering leaders, their organizations, and the communities they serve to thrive.

By the end of the series, participants will earn a Nonprofit Leadership Certificate and have a clearer understanding of their organizations' needs and how NFPs function from a business standpoint.

This series is being provided free of charge to select individuals in the Aurora area. Ideal candidates are current leaders in nonprofit organizations, individuals who have demonstrated significant leadership potential in the nonprofit sector, or seasoned corporate managers transitioning to nonprofit leadership roles.

Nominations should be submitted by supervisors, board chairs, or other organizational leaders who can speak to a nominee's qualifications and leadership potential. To nominate a participant, scan the QR code or visit aurora.edu/nfpcert by Friday, May 2.
